Old Business:

Carol Board-Westfall reported that she had mailed the large book order from the Saint Louis County Library in Missouri. The order including postage totaled $450.60 after the 10% discount agreed upon at our April meeting. The Library has been added to our quarterly newsletter mailing list.

Carol Board-Westfall reported that she sent a consent form to the Trustees of the Flat Fork Baptist Church for their signatures to have a commemorative plaque made for the church as the church is over 100 years old. She has not heard back from them.

Carol Board-Westfall reported she still has not received an invoice from â€œDigital Solutionsâ€• for the first batch of newspaper microfilms. The society is in danger of losing the $1,000 grant if we cannot present an invoice for the proposed project.

Linda Liss reported that she has continued correspondence with Mr. John Austin who is restoring the John H. Smith Cemetery on Harmony Rd in Roane Co. This small family cemetery does not appear in any of the society's cemetery books. She has placed memorials on the Find-a-Grave website for the 14 persons identified as being buried there.

Teresa Boggs Parker reported she along with some of the Executive Committee of R.C.H.S. had visited the Depot Museum after the April meeting. The building is owned by the City of Spencer.

She reported that it had been dusted and cleaned recently by a 4-H group, however it still needs regular upkeep, painting inside & out, insulated around eaves to keep out birds, better windows, etc.

The museum building will be open on the following dates if workers can be scheduled:

Saturday, June 1 9 a.m. til Noon.

Heritage Days, June 20, 21, 22, 2013

Walnut Festival, October 2013.

No decision could be reached at this point whether the society could take over the Depot Museum as a project. Discussion tabled until the Executive Committee can meet to put together a plan of action.

New Business:

Carol Board-Westfall received an advertisement request from Charleston Newspapers for the society to purchase a [business card size] ad in the West Virginia Commemorative issue of the Gazette & Daily Mail celebrating the state's Sesquicentennial [150th] birthday, on June 20th. Copy of the newspaper will be placed in the Archives & History Library in Charleston. The ad will cost $75. Motion was made and properly seconded to purchase the ad. Linda Liss will prepare the ad for publication.

Business meeting adjourned.
